

One app needs to support 3
different configurations

The Win10 editing / tagging app needs to appear the same to the user for either the Win10 service or the Linux backend options. User can support both backend options from one front end app.